The conference is inviting sponsors

The Institute of Physics, Chinese Academy of Sciences will host the The 12th International Conference on Materials and Mechanisms of Superconductivity (M2S 2018) in Beijing from August 19 to August 24, 2018. The venue for the conference is the International Convention Center, and 1300 attendees are expected. The 12th International Conference on Materials and Mechanisms of Superconductivity is held once every three years. It is the world's biggest, most influential academic event series in the superconductivity science and technology space. It involves material, physical, chemical, information technologies etc. This will be the second time the event has taken place in China; the previous occurrence was nearly 21 years ago (1997). The conference not only provides an important stage for scientific researchers to present their work, but also provides scientific equipment manufacturers from various fields an excellent opportunity to present their latest scientific research equipment and facilities.

In order to further exemplify “strengthened cooperation, complimentary advantages, shared resources, and mutual development” and offer enterprises a stage to present their corporate cultures and promote themselves, the conference will feature a set of cooperating sponsors. Tailor-made benefit programs have been created to meet corporate needs at various contribution levels.
